Victoria College of Education Celebrates International Women's Day 2025: A Tribute to Resilience and Equity

The Women Development Cell of Victoria College of Education orchestrated a profoundly inspiring and graceful ceremony on March 8th, 2025, to commemorate International Women's Day. The event, held in the esteemed presence of our Principal, Dr. Divya Trivedi, faculty members, and students, transformed the campus into a hub of reflection, gratitude, and empowerment, celebrating the indomitable spirit of womanhood.

The celebration served as a heartfelt gesture of respect and appreciation for the college's formidable women—the dedicated teaching and nonteaching staff members who form the backbone of our institution. It was an occasion to honour their multifaceted roles, acknowledging their daily demonstrations of kindness, compassionate leadership, unwavering determination, and intellectual prowess that tirelessly shape the future of education.

The event was graced by two distinguished chief guests whose presence elevated the significance of the day. Ms. Jaishri, a respected community leader and former President of the House Owner Association, and Ms. Guru, a renowned advocate for social change, shared the dais. Their insightful addresses formed the core of the day's inspiration.

In her powerful oration, Ms. Jaishri drew upon the rich tapestry of Indian history, invoking the legacy of greats like Rani Lakshmibai, Sarojini Naidu, and Savitribai Phule. She eloquently connected their struggles to the modern-day challenges and triumphs of women, emphasizing that the battle for equality is fought daily in homes, workplaces, and classrooms. She urged students to become ambassadors of change in their own communities.

Ms. Guru delivered a stirring speech that resonated deeply with the audience. She articulated that International Women's Day is far more than a symbolic celebration; it is a global call to action. "This day is dedicated to recognising the seismic achievements of women and their relentless efforts in raising awareness about gender equality and fundamental rights," she stated. She reminded everyone that it is a time to reflect on the progress made, to vocally call for necessary change, and most importantly, to celebrate the countless acts of courage and determination by ordinary women who play extraordinary roles in building the fabric of our nation and local communities.

The speeches powerfully echoed this year's global theme, driving home the message that a world free of bias, stereotypes, and discrimination is not just an ideal but a necessity. They championed the vision for a diverse, equitable, and inclusive India (Viksit Bharat) where difference is valued and equality is celebrated and achieved.

The audience, comprising female staff members and students, was visibly moved and inspired by the compelling narratives. The air was thick with a sense of solidarity and renewed purpose. The event culminated with a formal vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the chief guests for their wisdom and to all the women of Victoria College for their invaluable contributions. The

The event began with a warm welcome to all attendees. The ceremony started with a traditional tribute to Swami Vivekananda. The Principal, Dr. Divya Trivedi, along with faculty members and students, offered floral tributes and garlanded his portrait as a mark of deep respect. This simple yet heartfelt act set a thoughtful tone for the day.

The chief guest for the occasion was Dr. Meghna Gautam from SAGE University. In her inspiring speech, she spoke about Swami Vivekananda's life and his dream of a strong and prosperous India. She emphasised his focus on building good character, being self-reliant, and promoting unity among all people. Dr. Gautam explained how Swami Vivekananda's ideas are still important today, especially for young people. She encouraged students to seek knowledge, develop strong values, and work positively for the betterment of society.

Students took an active part in the celebration through various activities:

- Recitation of Sayings: Selected students recited powerful quotes from Swami Vivekananda's speeches. Their heartfelt recitations moved the audience and reminded everyone of his inspiring words.

The event highlighted the college's commitment to the overall growth of students—not only in academics but also in values such as leadership, morality, and service to others. These are the very principles that Swami Vivekananda championed throughout his life.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the chief guest, participants, teachers, and the college management for their support in making the event successful. The celebration served as a meaningful reminder of Swami Vivekananda's legacy and his powerful call to the youth: "Arise, awake, and stop not till the goal is reached."

Partnership: An Indispensable and Driving Force for Institutional Growth

By: Sanjoy Kumar Sharma,
Chief Education Officer,
Victoria College, Sehore, Madhya Pradesh.

No institution rises to excellence in isolation. The strength of a college lies not only in its curriculum and infrastructure but also in its ability to collaborate meaningfully with organizations that share the vision of holistic education. In this regard, our partnerships with NGOs, government agencies, academic bodies, and peer institutions have been instrumental in steering us towards becoming a model of higher learning that others can emulate.

Through collaborations with NGOs, our students gain exposure to ground realities, community engagement, and innovative solutions to societal challenges. These experiences complement formal education, enabling our learners to grow as socially conscious individuals who combine knowledge with empathy and action. NGOs bring creativity, flexibility, and deep community roots—qualities that enrich the overall academic ecosystem of the college.

Equally important are our continued engagements with government agencies. By aligning with their policies and developmental initiatives, the college ensures access to opportunities in skill development, research, innovation, and scholarships. Government collaborations provide both structure and scale, amplifying our impact and extending the benefits of education far beyond the classroom.

Our institutional linkages with universities, research centres, and academic forums further broaden intellectual horizons. Faculty and students alike benefit from knowledge exchange, joint research, seminars, and academic mobility opportunities. These collaborations create an environment where learning is dynamic, research is pioneering, and innovation is a shared mission.

At the same time, forging bonds with other educational institutions allows us to create a networked model of progress, where best practices are exchanged, benchmarks are set, and healthy competition drives quality. These partnerships ensure that our growth is not insular but is part of a wider journey of collective advancement.

Together, these collaborations—spanning NGOs, government agencies, academics, and institutions—lift the college to a higher pedestal. They shape us into not just an organization that delivers degrees, but into an institution that creates value, nurtures leaders, and prepares changemakers. It is through this holistic model that our college aspires to stand as an inspiration, worth replicating and following by others in the educational sphere.

Our mission remains clear: to serve as a beacon of collaboration driven excellence, setting new standards for what a modern college can and must achieve in the service of education and society.
